Washington Bi-Centennial Anniversary Fittingly Observed in Program at School

Large Audience Hears Oratory, "Farewell Address" and Other Features

"DECISION AT DAWN"

The Bi-Centennial Anniversary of George Washington was fittingly observed by the people of Narberth on Monday night with a program at the School Auditorium, which included stirring oratory, Washington's own words of the "Farewell Address," presentation of a one-act play, "Decision At Dawn" by the Narberth Players, and a minuet in costume and music by the School Orchestra.

A real community celebration, the affair drew out a crowd which packed the auditorium to the doors. J. J. Cabrey, chairman of the Borough Bi-Centennial Committee, acted as chairman and introduced the various speakers.

Reading of the "Farewell Address" was given by Burgess Henry A. Frye, who substituted at the last minute for Rev. Robert E. Keighton, who was taken ill with tonsillitis. Washington's warnings against entangling alliances and the evils of party spirit in his last address to his countrymen seemed to fall upon uncomprehending ears as some of the audience evidenced signs of restlessness.

Of greater interest to the gathering, it seemed, were the words of Chester P. Cook, who read an address entitled "Washington in Our Neighborhood." With the scholar's regard for accuracy, Mr. Cook read extracts from the Pennsylvania archives taken from diaries and letters of Continental soldiers, showing the route taken by Washington's army following the defeat at Brandywine to Valley Forge. His original sources indicated how the American army had crossed the Schuylkill, marched down Mary Waters Ford road and Meeting House lane (or the trails on which those roads were later built), and camped on the night of September 11, 1777, near Merion Meeting on the Old Lancaster road, now Montgomery avenue. "Washington the Soldier" and "Washington the Statesman" were the subjects of addresses by Frank A. Schrepfer and Fletcher W. Stites, respectively. With stirring rhetoric these men outlined the military and statesmanlike qualities of the Father of His Country.

An able performance of the one-act play, "The Decision At Dawn," awarded first prize in the nation-wide Bi-Centennial playwriting contest, was given by the Narberth Players. This sketch depicted a dark moment in Washington's career, at Valley Forge, when he was tempted to send his resignation as commander-in-chief to the Continental Congress, but was persuaded not to do so by his loyal officers and friends. The part of General Washington was taken by Rev. Samuel MacAdams, whose portrayal was marked by dignity and understanding. Other characters were: Martha Washington, Martha M. Sutherland; Col. Alexander Hamilton, B. F. Keenan; Col. Tench Tilghman, James F. Sherron, Jr.; General Baron Von Steuben, W. Russell Green; Woman, Aileen M. Horan; Messenger, Edward Purring; Orderly, Walter G. Case; Soldier, R. B. Vincent.

Community singing of "America," "The Star Spangled Banner," and "The Liberty Song," the first patriotic song published in the Colonies, was another feature of the evening.

Pupils of the Narberth Public School gave a pleasing performance of a minuet of Colonial Days in costume and the School Orchestra played two numbers.

Junior Club is Entertaining Sub-Juniors This Thursday

The Junior Community Club of Narberth is entertaining the Sub-Juniors at the Legion Room, Community Building, this Thursday evening at an informal party.

On March 3d, one of the series of subscription card parties, which the Finance Committee has been sponsoring, will be held at the home of the Chairman, Miss Alberta Davis, 202 Iona avenue. Everyone is welcome, a small fee payable at the door entitling each to a chance of winning a prize, and refreshments will be served to all.

Carry Legion Colors

Charles J. Clarke, adjutant, and Frank A. Schrepfer, past Commander, represented the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, Narberth, and carried the Posts colors at the Washington Bi-Centennial observance held at Valley Forge on Monday, attended by General John J. Pershing and 10,000 Boy Scouts from Montgomery and Delaware Counties.

Honored by Schoolmen

principal of Lower Merion High School, who was elected to a membership in the Headmasters' Association at their annual meeting held at the Westchester Country Club, Rye, N. Y., recently. Limited to a membership of 100, only 25 members of the association may be public school principals. Mr. Gilbert filled one of the four vacancies, for which there were 25 candidates.

Food Talks to Feature Club Meeting on Tuesday

The Woman's Community Club of Narberth will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, March 1, in the Girl Scout Wing of the Community Building at 2.30 P. M. This meeting will be in charge of the American Home Committee. There will be a food demonstration and talk on balanced meals and nutrition by Mrs. Kathryn Allen White, of the Philadelphia Interstate Dairy Council. The hostess will be Mrs. William C. Loughlin, Chairman of the Committee.

The Gym Class of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth is meeting every Tuesday morning in the Girl Scout Wing of the Community Building. Anyone desiring to join the class may do so for a nominal charge.

The next meeting, on March 15, as well as the meeting on March 29, will have two outstanding programs. Full details will be announced later.

Water Company Files New Schedule of Rates

Objectionable Service Charge
Done Away With—Lower Rate for Fire Hydrants

EFFECTIVE FEBRUARY 21

A schedule of decreased rates of the Philadelphia Suburban Water Company, filed with the Public Service Commission last Friday, went into effect Sunday, February 21, 1932, in the territory served by the Company including 49 municipalities in Montgomery, Delaware, Chester and Bucks Counties.

The fire-protecting service will be reduced from $60 to $45 a year. The service charge heretofore established in the company's meter service schedule will be abolished and a minimum charge, carrying with it an allowance of water, is to be established for each size of meter. This change will result in a reduction in every bill rendered, the company said.

Fixed minimum charges per quarter, for which certain quantities of water will be allowed without additional charge, will be made to each consumer for each meter. The rule covering deposits to secure payment of bills has been amended to provide for the refund of the deposit.

The first quarterly bill to be presented under the new schedule will not contain, of course, the abandoned Service Charge, officials stated. Neither will it include the Minimum Charge, the effect of which will first appear in the next regular quarterly bill and which will enter into each succeeding bill.

The new schedules are as follows: Under rate schedule No. 1 a quarterly charge varying from $2.70 to $2.40 with allowances of water from 2100 gallons to 235,000 gallons for meters varying in size from five-eighths of an inch to six inches are provided. If the amount of water consumed is less than the allowed amount the rate then scheduled No. 2 is applied, which provides charges ranging from $2 for 400 gallons in five-eighths-inch meters to $162.50 for 5000 gallons in six-inch meters.

The present rates for water consumption of the allowed amount will be maintained.

According to Carleton E. Davis, general manager of the Suburban Water Company, the new schedule will not mean an increase for anyone.

"We have worked out the rates," he said, "so that there will be some reduction for every consumer, no matter how much or how little water he uses. We have also abolished the service charge, which was payable in advance."

"The new minimum rate is paid at the end of each quarter, when the bills are rendered. There is a tenant's deposit for transients, but we

Cynwyd Girl's Poster Illustrates Scouting

Displayed by Mrs. David Phillips in Lecture at St. Mary's Church

EXPLAIN LOCAL RULE

A poster representing Girl Scouting as a bridge was displayed by Mrs. David L. Phillips, of Cynwyd, Philadelphia Director, on Tuesday morning at St. Mary's Church, Ardmore, at one of a series of lectures being given for Main Line Scout mothers and committee members.

A pillar labeled "leaders" formed the central support of the bridge with troop and district committees on either side and next to them local and national councils. The bridge was lighted by the various Girl Scout laws. Emma Crossdale, of Cynwyd, a Golden Eaglet and lieutenant of Cynwyd Troop, No. 94, designed the poster, which shows clearly the various parts of the Girl Scout organization in their proper relationships.

The subject of Mrs. Phillips' lecture this Tuesday was local management. She explained fully the duties of a local council, district committees and field captains. Local councils, she said, are responsible for the interpretation of Girl Scouting, as originally intended and planned by national councils. Also they have the responsibility of seeing that correct records are kept by a competent headquarters staff.

Mrs. Phillips brought out the fact that members of district committees should be representative women of various interests, religious, education and club work.

The reason Girl Scouting comes under the Welfare Federation was included in one of the group discussions that followed. Character building

Bailey Honor Student

James H. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bailey, of Narberth, has been announced as an honor student of the second rank by Wesleyan University. Bailey is one of eight men in the freshman class to have been rated as a group II man for the first semester of the academic year. Bailey prepared for Wesleyan at Lower Merion High School.

Stites Denies Candidacy

Fletcher W. Stites, Narberth attorney, denied this week that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from Montgomery County. His denial was made in the course of an address before the Old York Road branch of the Republican Women of Pennsylvania in the salon of the Strawbridge and Clothier store, Jenkintown.

Depositors Group to Contest Injunction

Committee States Reasons Why Temporary Injunction Should be Dissolved

HOLD HEARING TODAY

In reply to the restraining injunction move of Dr. William D. Gordon, State Secretary of Banking, the Main Line Depositors' Committee filed answer in the Montgomery County Court at Norristown yesterday that there was no warrant in law to enjoin them from making information available to all depositors of the closed Merion Title and Trust Company.

They asked that Judge Harold C. Knight, who granted a temporary injunction February 17, restraining the committee from making public their report, dissolve the injunction, leaving the defendants free to pursue and enjoy their constitutional rights of free speech.

A public hearing will be held in Norristown this Friday, at which defendant members of the Depositors' Committee will be represented by James Herbert Egan, Bryn Mawr attorney.

Providing Dr. Gordon's case is thrown out by the Court, defendants have asked that the State Secretary of Banking should be ordered to pay costs of the proceedings.

Four reasons are advanced by the Main Line Depositors' Committee in substantiation of their request that the injunction be dissolved.

1. That the constitutional rights of the defendants to speak and publish their non-seditious opinions on all matters of government policy be recognized.

2. That there is absence in the statutory law in the State of Pennsylvania of any restriction of the above constitutional rights applicable to the defendants as citizens.

3. That there is absence in the Bill of irreparable damage or violation of property rights in the plaintiff in his official capacity.

4. That there is absence of any averments showing malicious, seditious, or injurious matters in the defendants' proposed publication.

Defendants state in their arguments that Dr. Gordon's Bill of Complaint, quoting from Section 12 of the State Banking Act, is a "false and misleading statement of the provisions of the said Act." They quote the Bill of Complaint filed by the plaintiff in which Section 12 is interpreted as though it was meant to apply to the disclosure of banking information by "any" person. Members of the Main Line Depositors' Committee hold that this section of the Banking Act applies only to employees of the State Banking Department.

In reply to Dr. Gordon's statement that publication of the Depositors' Committee report would be inimical and prejudicial to the best interests of the creditors and depositors of the Merion Title, the defendants answer:

"Nowhere in plaintiff's Bill is there any averment of fact specifically pleaded showing on what said quoted conclusion is based."

The Depositors' Committee also state that nowhere in plaintiff's Bill is there an averment of irreparable damage to the plaintiff in his official capacity or any averment that the report the defendants desire to publish contains scandalous, libelous, seditious, malicious or injurious matter.

Members of the Main Line Depositors' Committee, who are named as defendants in the injunction case, are Walter R. Faries, chairman; George L. Hall, Yern Jorgenson, Franklin P. Kromer, Benjamin H. Ludlow and David G. Wilson. Aaron S. Swartz, Jr., is representing Dr. Gordon and the State Banking Department.

Miss Jean Staples plays in Oberlin Conservatory Program

Miss Jean Staples, of Narberth, who is studying in the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, appeared last week on the program of the Conservatory's Wednesday Night Recital. She played a Handel Largo for violin.

The Wednesday Night Recital is a weekly institution in Oberlin, to give advanced students in the Conservatory an opportunity to perform before a public audience. Miss Staples, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Staples, 124 Woodside avenue, Narberth, is a third year student in Oberlin this year.

Players' Performance of 'The Dover Road' Reveals a Significant Community Development

By "OUT FRONT"

Milne's "The Dover Road" by the Narberth Players attracted large audiences to Elm Hall last Thursday and Friday evenings, and revealed again that the local group of players is a serious and significant development in the life of the community. "The Dover Road" is not a comedy in the usual sense of the word, nor is it a farce, but has qualities of each. It is Milne, whose touch is always deft and light, revealing with a certain seriousness what would usually happen if runaway couples could be checked early in their journey and held where they could think things over a bit, where they could see each other outside of the haze of romance which usually blinds them in their first mad plunge.

Milne did not write it with amateur actors in mind and to portray it successfully requires real skill and intelligent understanding of the shades of meaning in the lines. The scene is in England, of course, and the lines are best handled with a suggestion at least of the British accent which was agreeably introduced by the Narberth cast, except in a failure to know that "halfpenny" is one word in which our never-consistent English cousins use a long vowel.

There is always a temptation to decline out of friendly courtesy to discuss in detail the comparative merits of the members of an amateur cast, but it is not helpful to them to bracket them all together under one vague and complimentary sentence. Such a sentence could be employed here. They all did well. They all have reason to feel proud of their accomplishment. Also, they should acknowledge their personal dependence on the excellent coaching of Mrs. H. L. McConnell. It is true, however, that the outstanding performance was given by Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, as Eustasia, and that J. Bedford Wooley, as Leonard, was especially convincing and enjoyable in the breakfast scene in the second act. Also, the second act was the best of the three. William H. Muller played the part of Dominic, the butler, with such a sure touch as to make one wonder whether he might not at some time or other have actually been a butler in a well-ordered English home.

Arthur Cooke is always a favorite with local audiences, who usually associate him with comedy parts. It was gratifying, therefore, to see him handle so successfully a part of some seriousness and some subtlety. As Anne, Miss Lucia Keim was charming always, and Alan Smith, as Latimer, capably handled what was certainly the central and probably the most difficult role in the play. As servants, Mrs. Faith F. Farmer and E. E. Hackman conducted themselves in their few and highly decorous appearances in such a manner as to make every discerning person in the audience resolve to ask Latimer, where he had been able to obtain such expert and competent help.

Washington Seen as Advocate of Peace

W. Russell Green, Descendant of Revolutionary Soldier
Rotary Speaker

PRAISES GENERALSHIP

Washington as an advocate of peace was the subject of a talk Tuesday by W. Russell Green, before the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. Mr. Green, an attorney, was born on February 22 and is a descendant of one of the three men who guided the Father of His Country on the famous Delaware crossing trip.

"Washington, who was one of the ablest generals in history, was also one of the most earnest advocates of peace," said Mr. Green. "His views on the subject appear often in his speeches and writings. When he became president, he devoted much of his time to efforts for peace, following out the scriptural pleas for the abolition of war."

Mr. Green reviewed the difficulties under which Washington carried on his campaign for the freedom of the colonies. He showed the effect of jealousies and lack of funds, and pointed out that the "army" of Washington was but a collection of untrained men from diverse parts of the colonies.

"Washington, handicapped as he was, made himself the master of orderly retreat. Baron von Steuben, who aided him in training the troops, and Frederick the Great, both lauded his ability as a general. Von Steuben once remarked that Washington was leading an army which no European general could hold together for a week."

New Narberth Scout Troop Presented With Flag and Colors

A meeting of unusual interest, attended by 258, was held in the Narberth Presbyterian Church last Sunday evening under the auspices of the new Boy Scout Troop recently organized in the Church.

The feature of the evening was the presentation of the American flag to the new Troop by J. H. McClay, representing the Men's Bible Class, and the Troop colors by Mrs. Frank J. Wheeler, representing the Women's Bible Class and the Westminster Circle of the Church. A happy response was made by John B. Wilson, the Troop's Scoutmaster.

The following troops were present: Narberth, Nos. 1 and 2; Wynnewood, Merion, Bala-Cynwyd, Nos. 1 and 2, and Philadelphia Troop, No. 52, with buglers. There was special music by a chorus of boy scouts from the Narberth Church.

The Scouts, 110 strong, gave the salute to the flag, followed by the oath of allegiance and the scout law. The Rev. John Van Ness, pastor of the Church, presided at the meeting and delivered an address on "The Awakening of a Young Man."

Thanks Are Due

Suppose Narberth had ignored the appeal of the national committee that the bi-centennial of Washington's birth should be fittingly and appropriately observed? Would it have made any more difference here than it did in other nearby places where the call was ignored? Was it worth doing anyway? Isn't Washington getting to be rather an old story in these days of depression? We think it was very much worth doing, and the response of the merchants and of private citizens throughout the Borough indicates that we are not alone in our belief in the great value of calling and recalling the nation's honor roll as the anniversaries come and go.

But observances such as that just witnessed here in Narberth do not come ready-made. They require much work and planning and interested attention on the part of some one. That task has just been performed for Narberth by the citizens' committee which was appointed by the Burgess for that purpose. For reasons best known to themselves, reasons with which we would disagree, no matter what they were, that committee omitted the names of its members from the attractive programs which were printed for use at the Washington celebration last Monday night. The people of Narberth are entitled to know who are doing that work so well for them, and we think that we are merely the mouthpiece of the community when we take this means to say that public thanks are due to the chairman, Mr. J. J. Cabrey, and to his committee, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, Mrs. John Nash, Mrs. Robert F. Wood, Mr. W. J. Drennan and Mr. Arthur L. Cooke.

Political Tactics

The Montgomery County Republican Organization, under the leadership of Charles Johnson, pulled a coup last week by indorsing a liberal for the important post of Congressman from the county.

Perhaps the handwriting on the wall following the gubernatorial election when the Main Line and the county gave Hemphill a big majority is still evident. That vote was a test of the liberal and wet sentiments of this section, at least.

For the county organization to have indorsed anyone but a wet would have been poor political tactics. As it is, the organization's candidate, J. William Ditter, of Lower Gwynedd, will be opposed by another wet Republican, the insurgent State Senator James S. Boyd, but, considering his stand on prohibition and with the organization's support, Mr. Ditter should come through.

This spring's primary election, with the nomination of a Congressman from Montgomery county as an independent Congressional district for the first time, will be an important one, and some fireworks are sure to be seen.

Prominent Basso to Sing

With Lutheran Church Choir
Charles D. Long, one of the leading bass soloists in Philadelphia, will assist the choir of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Narberth, in their monthly musical service this Sunday evening at 7:45 P. M. Mr. Long is the bass soloist at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Elkins Park, of which Dr. Francis C. Steinmetz is the rector. It is said this church pays as much money for their music as the average city church includes in its entire budget. Mr. Long also has charge of the Glee Clubs of Temple University and the music in the schools of Chester.

In addition to the numbers Mr. Long will sing, the choir will render "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings," by Wolcott, and "Still, Still With Thee," by Foote. Miss Squier, the organist and director, will play as her prelude three numbers from the "Peer Gynt Suite" by Grieg: (1) Morning Mood; (2) Anitra's Dance; (3) Ase's Death. For the Offertory she will present, "Clair de Lune," by Debussy.

The short meditation by the pastor will be based on the great religious painting "Christ in Gethsemane," by Hofmann.

Shreds & Patches

Noblesse Oblige

Loitering about great railway stations with no definite journey or objective in mind, as is The Vagrant's wont—aimless fellow that he is—he often sees bits of humor and touches of pathos and always thinks that hurrying and preoccupied people are interesting. In the Grand Central in New York last week he saw a well-dressed young woman drop her handbag, which was immediately picked up by a hungry-looking man, who hurried after her and restored it, hat in hand. The woman accepted the handbag with barely a perceptible nod of thanks and hastened on. Motionless, the man watched her for a brief time and then slowly walked away, obviously more dejected than before. The Vagrant was tempted to go to him and say, "Don't trouble to return the next pocketbook that the Giver of all good things drops in your way." But, of course, that would have been a very wrong thing for The Vagrant to have done. Such conduct could land the poor fellow in jail. Noblesse oblige applies only to the propertyless these days, it seems.

A Question of Sincerity

"Old Fogey," writing in a style quite different from that which has in the past been associated with that name in these columns, stated for all the world to see the political dilemma which the purported dry candidacy of Mr. Stites presents to himself. He thinks that the situation could be comfortably relieved if Mr. Stites would run as a wet, and thereby seems to imply a certain degree of insincerity or of political expediency in Mr. Stites' dry advocacy. Doubtless the man who used Old Fogey's nom de plume last week is better acquainted with the inner workings of the Stites mind and conscience than The Vagrant; but, solely as an exterior observer of the ex-Senator, it seems to The Vagrant that it is not necessary to assume that he is not sincere in his dry beliefs. Mr. Stites has run for various political offices at divers times, and it is true that those who run for office are often actuated by the most hollow insincerity in the statements which make up their platforms. As an office-seeker Mr. Stites can be suspected as Old Fogey implies, but actually there is nothing in Mr. Stites' personal career to lead one to believe that he has hung out the dry flag solely to get votes. He must know as well as anyone else that the dry label will be likely to handicap him.

How Dry is "Dry"?

But how dry is Mr. Stites? Does "dry" mean with him complete aridity, a trace of moisture or even a high humidity? There are plenty of people here whom the crusading, the evangelical dries would call wet, but who are not wringing wet, not even dewy-morning-moisture wet, but only sort of high-humidity wet. Possibly those high-humidity wets would not find it incompatible with their beliefs to vote for Mr. Stites as a high-humidity dry. The Vagrant is a high-humidity wet himself and recognizes it to be a difficult position to hold. He hopes that Mr. Stites is a bone-dry, for he wishes to see the issue clearly drawn, and with as good a man as Mr. Stites on the bone-dry side it will be necessary for the wringing wets to bring out the ablest man they can find in order to defeat him—wet or dry. Prohibition is a paramount issue and should be kept to the forefront of active politics until it is more definitely settled than at present, but it is not the only thing that the Montgomery county Congressman will have to consider during his first term of office, and there are many high-humidity voters who would rather vote for an able dry, even though he misrepresented them on prohibition, than for some incompetent wet like "Puddler Jim" Davis, who has just turned from dry to wet at the alleged behest of Vane. "Puddler Jims" in office can do the country more harm than the Eighteenth amendment, and that is said in full recognition of the evils which have come from that unenforceable appendage to our Federal Constitution.

The County Organization

The Vagrant agrees with Old Fogey in assuming that, regardless of his platform, Mr. Stites will run in opposition to the County Organization, and that is something which requires more consideration than the people of Narberth have been willing to give to it in the past. Stites usually runs himself or his henchmen against the Organization, and Narberth has usually run along with them, giving the impression that Narberth is by conviction anti-Organization. Narberth is probably a little pro-Stites, but not necessarily anti-Organization. So far as the voters of Narberth have been concerned, Mr. Stites has always been favored by the fact that the Organization has seldom been capably represented in the borough. There is much that can be said for the Organization right here in Narberth. It is very much to the selfish interests of the Narberth taxpayers to support the Organization. As administrators of public funds and as political leaders, the Johnson organization have

A View of the Depression

To the Editor of Our Town:

God has loaned America money until it is now the richest nation on earth, built churches, many of them magnificent, — everything to attract His people. Does it grieve our Lord to look at the empty seats?

Let us take time, think back over the past 80 years (my next birthday) and we will see many of earth's most gifted children content with small means, achieving their greatest triumphs midst comparative poverty. Housewives making very happy homes, using candles for light, brooms to sweep, living within their means.

Our real Captain, the only one that can see the end of the voyage, has been very patient, very gracious for many years,—given us more gold than seemed necessary for our own use, and of this barrels have been sent abroad!

Has this Depression been arranged in order that He can clean up our earthly habitation? He still sees us crazed with a mania for more money, "more fun," neglecting the things that are worth while.

Is it a holdup to stop us from speeding "for our own safety" that we can see through the "clouds that our dimming our Vision?" Is it a holdup for us to stop, look and listen for the great enduring realities, the whisperings of God?

Do not I fill Heaven and earth? saith the Lord. Am I a God at hand and not a God afar off? saith the Lord.

Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it. Except the Lord keep the city, the watchman worketh in vain, we know.

Even Christ was limited to 40 days by the Devil. He showed him all the kingdoms in the world, in a moment of time, and said, "If thou therefore wilt worship me, all these will be thine."

What did Christ do about it?

built up a creditable record. But no one has advanced the Organization story in its constructive aspects to the people of Narberth, and, knowing Mr. Stites as they do and respecting him as he merits, they naturally have been inclined to vote for or with him.

Shadow Boxing

In the primary campaign last fall Mr. Cabrey wrote skillful and forceful publicity for the anti-Organization candidates. He knew the weak points in his own arguments, and he glossed them over naturally. No one knew better than he, no doubt, that an equally capable writer for the Organization—one who believed in that side as sincerely—could have disproved the hackneyed generalities with which Mr. Cabrey, like all other reformers, always belabored the machine and could have searched out many weak spots in the independent campaign and platform. Cabrey's performance was like an expert boxer giving an exhibition with a punching bag—which, of course, is no real opponent at all. The County Organization can easily carry Narberth with good candidates, if it seriously desires to make the effort in a capable way.

"Champ" and "Alice in Wonderland" for Narberth

Gary Cooper, Claudette Colbert and 9-months-old Richard Spire star in "His Woman," an appealing tale at the Narberth Theatre this Friday and Saturday nights. At Saturday's matinee, a special performance of Douglas Fairbanks' spectacular and thrilling "Thief of Bagdad" will be given for children and others.

"The Champ," one of the year's best pictures, will bring Wallace Beery, Jackie Cooper and Irene Dunne to Narberth Monday and Tuesday; splendid story and acting. The show will appear at a 2.30 matinee Monday and 3.45 Tuesday, in addition to the evening performances.

Ruth Chatterton fans will like "Once A Lady," coming to the borough Wednesday and Thursday. Friday and Saturday next, Marilyn Miller, Ben Lyon, Leon Errol and W. C. Fields will entertain in a romantic comedy, "Her Majesty, Love," in which there are pleasing comedy, scenery and music.

"Alice in Wonderland" will be given its first Main Line showing next Saturday in Narberth, when two matinees will be given, at 11 A. M. and 2 P. M., for the convenience of all children and parents. The childhood fantasy is praised as an epic of the talking screen; very much recommended.

Narberth B. & L. Offers New Stock Series; Will Elect Officers Thursday

Its 53rd series, of single and double shares of stock, will be offered by the Narberth Building and Loan Association at its meeting next Thursday evening, March 3. At that time officers and directors will be elected. William D. Smedley is president; William B. Kraft, vice-president; William S. Howard, treasurer; Thomas C. Trotter, Jr., secretary, and Fletcher W. Stites, solicitor.

"Delicious," "Private Lives," "Frankenstein," "Mata Hari," at Egyptian

Tender, mirthful and melodious "Delicious," Janet Gaynor's and Charles Farrell's latest romantic comedy about a poor Scotch girl who falls in love with a rich young man. With El Brendel also entertaining, it's at the Egyptian this week-end.

Adapted from the stage play, and very pleasing in its sophisticated way is "Private Lives," in which Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery, Reginald Denny and Una Merkel are coming to Cynwyd next Monday and Tuesday.

Unless you are exceptionally thrill-proof, you'll find "Frankenstein" every bit as exciting and hard on the heart as its curtain announcement warns: Egyptian audiences next Wednesday and Thursday will find it the best of the crop of thrillers. In addition to the monster who nearly destroyed his audacious creator, the cast includes Colin Clive, as Count von Frankenstein, and Mae Clarke and John Boles.

Greta Garbo, nicely aided by Ramon Novarro, Lionel Barrymore, Lew Stone and others, gives an exotic and highly interesting performance in "Mata Hari," life story of a beautiful spy, which will be shown in Cynwyd next Friday and Saturday evenings; good entertainment.

ULTRA MODERN

It wasn't so many years ago that those who went down to the sea in ships were astounded to see, instead of the expected billowing sails, a chimney pouring black smoke from the amidship section of the Clermont as she steamed down the Hudson River and into the history books. Since that time, every year has seen the development of a new and faster method of transportation. Each increase in the speed of transport has necessitated a reorganization of sanitary living conditions. . . . SPRINGFIELD WATER, served in suburban homes in Delaware, Chester and Montgomery Counties has kept step with a remarkable development pace—and stands today an ultra-modern product of supreme quality.

people, who can at best devote but a small portion of their time to the preparation of a play, to memorize lines as long and as exacting as many of those which the fluent Milne had prepared for these characters. The Narberth Players are much more to be commended for undertaking plays of this kind, even though they cannot become letter perfect, than in selecting any of those thin and obscure vehicles which are to be found in the compilations headed "Easy Plays For Amateurs."This review would not be complete without mention of the Norwood 20-piece, all male, band orchestra, which, under the rhythmic direction of R.
B. Parker, played before the curtain went up and between the acts. They contributed much to the enjoyment of the evening and caused some of the ladies in the audience to murmur to each other, "I wonder if we are going to dance after the play is over."The program announced that the play was being given for the benefit of the Narberth Fire Company, which is a commendable and laudable objective, but, judging by the excellent scenery, properties and lighting effects, their must have been considerable expense which was incurred by the Players and it seemed to one member of the audience at least that they would be entirely justified in giving some plays for their own benefit.
The Swarthmore Players have recently erected their own play house out of proceeds accumulated from their own plays. Such a building would greatly improve the community equipment of Narberth, which still lacks the right kind of an auditorium and stage.Third Period Honors

'Time Out'

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Hot Dog! Tommy got a fan mail. Nice long letter from the wilds of Haverford Township, in a feminine hand, and she raked us over the coals in rather a decent way, considering. The boss says we can't print it. Letters to be published must be signed, and the signature, "Just A Reader," can't be recognized. So, there you are. Can't let you in on Tommy's fan mail.

The fair lady thinks we don't give the Haverford boys the right breaks in our talk, so we will make amends this fair Friday. The first half of the season Haverford had the best basketball talent in the suburbs and should have defeated Lower Merion and other teams by one-sided scores. She didn't, but she won. Since mid-year's, Coaches Cornog and Mentzer have had trouble winning with make-shift line-ups of boys not in the class with the ones that graduated. For winning those games, Haverford deserves credit for courage and fight of the conquering kind.

When we mention Haverford as being afraid of the good old Maroon, we do not mean that they lie down in the games. Oh, no; we realize that Haverford always plays her hardest against the boys from across County Line, but she fears the Maroon and White. But that is no discredit to your Red and Gold. It's a compliment, for they should fear teams that are consistent champions.

Haverford wins championship, Radnor wins championship, Central wins championship, Collingsdale wins championship. Lots of championships being won around these parts.

Big day for the locals in at the Meadowbrook meet last Saturday. The Junior High won the four-lap relay from a fast field in good time. Upper Darby came second about fifteen yards in the rear of Zengel, who crossed the finish line first. Coach Adam's senior high relay team won their heat in the mile relay; time, 3:47. Good time on the indoor track, but if they had been pushed they would have done a 3:45, we believe. The boys, Taylor, Graham, Buek and Fraim, lapped two of the runners on other teams. Collingswood, New Jersey, did 3:46 6-10, running nicely.

Upper Darby won the half-mile race in good time. Haverford high did nice running in their mile relay to win in 3:53 plus.

Lower Merion Junior High won from Lancaster's West Junior High five in a basketball game Friday night in the local's gym. They outscored the visitors 34 to 21 and got revenge for the early season setback administered to them at Lancaster right after the Christmas holidays. The Leopards continued their winning streak to 15 straight by downing Lansdowne Junior High Tuesday afternoon away from home, 21 to 8.

Mike Zengel is probably lost to the Junior High five for the remaining four games on the schedule, due to an injured ankle. This will necessitate moving Heller to center, Gene to guard, and putting Robert Canfield in at a forward berth. Four hard games remain on the schedule and to clinch the suburban championship, the boys will have to win either from Haverford this week or from Upper Darby next week.

Junior Club Presents Volume of Braille to the Library

The Library has received recently the first volume of Braille to be added to its collection. This series of dots and dashes, with no illustrations and no variations in its type, is intended as most people now know for those finger-reading people whose eyesight has failed them, the Blind. When history records the mental as well as the physical suffering of those talented individuals of the past whose careers have been tragically ended by incurable afflictions of the eyes, one is led to rejoice that at last an appreciable effort is being made to overcome this handicap. There are here in Narberth, in the Women's Clubs, both Senior and Junior, and in other groups, interested persons who themselves have learned the Braille system that they might teach others.

And now, through the generosity of the Junior Community Club, its president, Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, has presented to the Library one volume of a Braille edition of a book known as "The Outlook For the Blind." This is a series of articles especially interesting to the blind, for it discusses among many other subjects, the progress that has been made in recent years in preparing books and magazines for this group of people. The volume referred to is published by the American Foundation For the Blind with the co-operation of the Helen C. Snyder Fund of the Juniors of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women. It is now available at the Library for any responsible person.

Lions Lead Meteors by Three Points in Church Bowling

Lower Merion Outclasses Chester, Winning 30 to 14

Captain Roy Williams and his teammates entertained Chester High School last Friday afternoon, and they were returned winners in a basketball game played in the high school gymnasium, 30 to 14. The invaders never had a serious look-in on the game from the first few minutes of the first quarter. With two regulars on the bench, Coach Anderson sent a revamped lineup into the fray, and they played exceptionally well considering the fact that Poorman, at center, and Hanger, at forward, were starting their first varsity contests for Lower Merion.

Roy Williams played his usual high-scoring role, dropping in 12 points, though he found it hard to get going the first half. Ray Stanley scored six points, and Thomas substituted in the fourth quarter, scoring four points. Hanger furnished the score-keepers with four markers, and Ramsey secured the remainder.

Lower Merion completely outclassed the Chester combination and were ahead all through the game.

Maroon Drive Beats Abington on Tuesday

Lower Merion High School's basketball team won its tenth victory of the season Tuesday night at the new Abington gymnasium, 18 to 15. Captain Roy Williams led his teammates in an offensive drive in the second and fourth quarters that netted him eight points and his team 16.

Jack Hinchey was the only Maroon player who could find the basket in the early stages of the game, and it was his two stabs from the center of the floor that kept the home boys in the running.

Coach Anderson found the going too fast for his new boys, Poorman and Hanger, so at the beginning of the second quarter he replaced them with his two regulars, Talley and Grace. With Abington holding an 8-to-0 lead, the team started to play more aggressively and at the end of the first half had evened matters at 10-10.

The third quarter uncovered a lot of rugged basketball, but neither side could dent the basket for some reason. Lower Merion had one field goal and Abington a foul shot for their efforts. The final stanza opened up somewhat, and with Williams leading the offensive the boys pulled away for a 17-to-13 margin and protected it successfully for the remainder of the contest.

Young Gray is playing for Brookline and is a consistent performer. He was the backbone of the Haverford High offense when he was in the line-up.

Narberth School Notes

The Primary Grades celebrated Washington's Birthday on Wednesday, February 24, at 2.30 P. M., when a program was given in the auditorium by the first, second and third grades. The committee in charge of the program consisted of Misses McAuliffe and Worst and Mrs. Symond. Many parents attended. The program was as follows: Announcer, Jimmy McKenzie; recitation, Virginia Durbin; recitation, Bobby Wells; dance and song, First Grade; poem, Kenneth Clancy; song, Second Grade; reading, Emily Miller; song, Elaine Starr, Bernice Sweeney, Warren Vincent and George Woodrow; recitation, Betsy Ann Kennedy; song, Third Grade Girls; Colonial Tea Party, Third Grade Girls; Flag Drill, Third Grade Boys; poem, George Breslaw; Dance, Second Grade Girls. The program was framed in a little flag, the characters of which are as follows: George Custis, George Woodrow; Nellie Custis, Eleanor Haywood; Mr. Lear, teacher, Kenneth Van Aiken; Samuel, James McKenzie; Patricia, Mary Louise Evans; Alexander, Jack Dunn; George Washington, Alfred Gres; Martha Washington, Mary Tuson.

The upper grades of the school are having Washington programs in their Home Rooms this Thursday. Today the authentic moving pictures of the Life of George Washington will be shown to the upper grades. The essay contest on "George Washington in Pennsylvania" was won by Joe Perry, who read his essay in the auditorium last Friday. Jean Harkness won second award.

A special car was reserved for the group, from Narberth to 30th Street Station, and also on the steam train to Washington. Principal W. J. Drennan chaperoned the crowd. Among places visited were the old and new museums, the White House, the Capitol, Congressional Library, Arlington and the Unknown Soldier's Tomb. In the late afternoon the party was taken by bus through the city, seeing places of interest. Lunch was included in the trip fee and was enjoyed at the Savarin Restaurant. Box lunches were served to the party on the way home.

Reporters: Archie Sparks, Jack Schwabenland, Samuel McCartney, Doris Berry, John Klum, Helen Chub, Frances Leech, Mary Alice Krauskop, Anita MacFarland.

Cheltenham's victory over Norristown High Tuesday afternoon was a surprise. Cheltenham has a good team, but 24 to 7 is quite a margin.

Cheltenham's captain, Stella, is one of the outstanding guards in the suburbs.

St. Margaret's Winner of Meadowbrook Track Event

St. Margaret's Narberth Relay Team romped home in fine style to win first place in the Suburban Parochial Schools' 660-yard Relay of the Middle Atlantic States Interscholastic Track Championship, which was sponsored by the Meadowbrook Club, and held at the Convention Hall last Saturday.

Competing against them were teams from Mother Good Counsel, Bryn Mawr, and St. Denis, Ardmore. Despite the fact they had little or no practice St. Margaret's boys ran the meet in the fast time—1.26.3.

The following boys who ran in the order named were each awarded a Gold Medal: Wm. Meehan, R. Finn, J. Finan and M. Cosavechia. One of the amusing events of the race was the manner in which Mario Cosavechia ran the last lap. After having secured the lead of forty or more yards on his opponents, he slackened his pace to acknowledge the applause which was being showered on him by the spectators.

Track Running at St. Margaret's is a new innovation, sponsored by Father McGinty, whose encouragement to the boys made the winning team possible.
